Our many thanks to the DeKalb County Extension Office and its personnel for without them this yearbook would not have been possible.

Please be sure to visit the office periodically for information on many different topics concerning family life and homemaking skills, such as; canning, preserving, gardening (both flower and vegetable), animal management, etc. contact Mr. Miller to have a specific agent speak to your club or for a visit by your club to the office to see what is available. You may visit the website and download in PDF format any of the publications available from the extension service.
